

Appendix D – Action Organizations in the Hood Canal Watershed

A number of governments and other organizations are working to protect and restore the natural resources of the Hood Canal watershed. In addition to Federal, state, tribal and county governments that are members of HCCC, the following organizations play a significant role in the management, protection and restoration of Hood Canal's natural resources:

- Cascade Land Conservancy
- Great Peninsula Conservancy
- Hood Canal Dissolved Oxygen Program
- Hood Canal Environmental Council
- Hood Canal Salmon Enhancement Group
- Hood Canal Watershed Education Network
- Jefferson Conservation District
- Jefferson County Marine Resources Committee
- Jefferson Land Trust
- Kitsap Conservation District
- Long Live the Kings
- Lower Hood Canal Watershed Coalition
- Mason Conservation District
- NOAA-Fisheries
- North Olympic Salmon Coalition
- North Olympic Land Trust
- Northwest Watershed Institute
- Pacific Northwest Salmon Center
- Shorebank Enterprise Cascadia
- Skokomish Watershed Action Team (SWAT)
- The Nature Conservancy
- U.S. Navy
- University of Washington
- Washington Trout
- Wilderness Society